Communities Guidelines

- Maintain the privacy and anonymity of any patients or clients that you reference. Do not disclose confidential or identifying information.
- Keep it collegial. The discussions and comments are meant to stimulate conversation, not to create contention.
- Do not use these forums to ask legal questions.
- Use your own thoughts and words, and obtain permission before using the words of others. This means that you should assume that no one will copy and share all or part of your message(s) by e-mail, on a web page, or otherwise use them without your permission. You shouldn't do any of these things yourself, nor should you post material that is protected by copyright.
- Please do not promote your business, sell items, or otherwise conduct business in our discussion groups.
- Bring professionalism to your posts. Add value to each discussion you participate in, use appropriate language, and keep your discussions and comments relevant to the topic at hand.
- See something, say something. If you see an issue within the forums, please contact janelle@traumaticlifelosses.com. We're here to ensure these discussion groups are a safe, vibrant online space for everyone involved.

Heads Together Think Tank is facilitating some discussions within our forums, but is not actively monitoring for inappropriate postings and will not undertake editorial control of postings. However, in the event that any inappropriate post is brought to the attention of Heads Together Think Tank, we will take all appropriate action.

Heads Together Think Tank reserves the right to terminate access to any user who does not abide by these guidelines. Posts that violate Communities Guidelines may be removed. Please contact janelle@traumaticlifelosses.com for any concerns or questions related to activity in discussion groups.
